

COMMERCIAL TIME - CHILDREN'S PROGRAMMING
MTV NETWORKS CERTIFICATION: 1st Quarter 2005

The following certifications are provided regarding compliance during the period January 1, 2005 to March 31, 2005 (the "Current Quarter") with the commercial time limitations set forth in the FCC's April 12, 1991 Report and Order Implementing the Children's Television Act of 1990 (the "Act") and the rules adopted therein.

NICKELODEON aired children's programming during the Current Quarter to the extent indicated by the attached program schedules. The children's programming Nickelodeon aired during the Current Quarter contained commercial matter in an amount that was not more than 12 minutes per hour on weekdays and 10.5 minutes per hour on weekends. Nickelodeon accordingly certifies that it is in compliance for the Current Quarter with the limitations set forth in the Act and FCC rules.

NOGGIN, NICK GAMES & SPORTS ("GAS") and NICKTOONS TV aired children's programming during the Current Quarter as indicated by the attached program schedules for those services, but to the extent these services carried commercials, the amount of commercial matter was within the time limitations set forth in the Act. Program services MTV, MTV2, MTV Jams, MTV Hits, MTV Español, VH1, VH1 Soul, VH1 Country, VH1 Classic, VH1 Megahits, VHUno, TV LAND, COMEDY CENTRAL, CMT and SPIKE TV did not air any children's programming subject to the requirements of the Act during the Current Quarter.

NICKELODEON FIRST SEMI-ANNUAL INSPECTION REPORT

On October 21, 2004, the Commission issued an Order in the captioned matter pursuant to which it adopted a Consent Decree between the Enforcement Bureau, Coxcom, Inc., and Viacom International Inc. (the latter acting on behalf of Nickelodeon Channel ("Nickelodeon")), resolving and terminating a Bureau investigation relating to possible violations of Children's Programming Commercial Limits by Cox Communications San Diego, and potential future investigations regarding similar possible violations by other Operators that also carry Nickelodeon.¹ In the Consent Decree, the parties agreed, among other things, that Nickelodeon would adopt and implement a Compliance Plan for purposes of preventing it from airing commercial matter in excess of that permitted under the Commission's Children's Programming Commercial Limits.

Paragraph 4 of the Compliance Plan requires that for two years after the Order, Nickelodeon will at least once every six months conduct an inspection of commercial matter aired during its Children's Programming for three randomly selected weeks during that period and report to the Bureau the results of the inspection, including any violations of the Children's Programming Commercial Limits, and remedial steps that Nickelodeon takes to address them. Paragraph 5 of the Compliance Plan prescribed remedies for such violations. This report, covers the time period October 21, 2004, through April 21, 2005, and is Nickelodeon's first of four to be filed under the Compliance Plan.

Inspection Process and Findings

To prepare this report, Nickelodeon, through counsel, engaged the accounting firm Ernst & Young LLP ("E&Y") to conduct an independent inspection of Nickelodeon's official program logs. E&Y randomly selected three weeks via lottery – January 3-9, 2005; February 22-28, 2005, and March 10-16, 2005 – and tabulated the commercial matter on Nickelodeon during these periods. It also examined all the commercial matter during those three weeks to identify any program-length commercials ("PLCs"). No PLCs appeared in Nickelodeon's logs.

However, the inspection identified ten instances when, due to unanticipated run-time overages of program materials and/or unanticipated moments of dead-air, the one-minute dedicated at the end of each clock hour to local availabilities, i.e., time set aside for use by Nickelodeon's affiliates, ran past the end of the hour into the next hour. In short, the programming as actually aired did not precisely match the programming as scheduled. The ten occasions on which this occurred are as follows:

Date	Clock Hour	Duration of Over-Run
Saturday, February 26, 2005	6:00:00A	0:00:15
Saturday, February 26, 2005	12:00:00P	0:00:07
Saturday, February 26, 2005	3:00:00P	0:00:10
Saturday, February 26, 2005	6:00:00P	0:00:23
Saturday, February 26, 2005	8:00:00P	0:00:06
Sunday, February 27, 2005	6:00:00A	0:00:05
Sunday, February 27, 2005	2:00:00P	0:00:18
Sunday, February 27, 2005	6:00:00P	0:00:01
Saturday, March 12, 2005	7:00:00P	0:00:11
Sunday, March 13, 2005	7:00:00P	0:00:09

To understand why this occurred, Nickelodeon examined both its schedule logs and the "as-run" logs from its Networks Operations Center, which reflect what was actually telecast (and which are Nickelodeon's official program logs). In every case, the schedule logs correctly limited commercial matter in each clock hour to 10.5 minutes on weekends and 12 minutes on weekdays. In comparing the two sets of logs, Nickelodeon determined that the problems caused by the ten local availabilities at issue occurred because, as noted, some program material segments had unplanned run-time overages and/or included unexpected dead air. When this happens, "unscheduled" time accumulates during the clock hour and pushes material scheduled for that hour slightly into the following clock hour.²

The ten instances in which this occurred did not necessarily result in commercial overages, because Nickelodeon schedules program breaks at the end of the clock hour which are made available to Operators for their insertion of material. Operators do not always insert commercials during these breaks, and Nickelodeon has no way of knowing what type of material Operators inserted.³ To the extent these ten local availabilities that ran over were used for commercial matter, however, the consequence would be that the amount of commercial matter for the hour following that in which the availabilities were scheduled to air exceeded the 10.5 minutes allowed under 47 U.S.C. § 303a and 47 C.F.R. § 76.225. But the amount of added commercial matter in the hour into which material ran over is very brief – as indicated in the table, it ranged here from only one second in one case to a maximum of 23 seconds in another, and otherwise was 5-18 seconds.⁴

Commercial Matter Reductions to Compensate for Overages

While it is possible that no violation of the commercial matter limits occurred, as explained above, Nickelodeon is treating the ten instances as if they were used for commercial matter for purposes of its Compliance Plan obligations. Accordingly, pursuant to Paragraph 5 of the Compliance Plan, Nickelodeon will reduce the amount of commercial matter to be aired during a subsequent airing of the same or similar Nickelodeon programming during the same or a comparable time period in amounts equal

² Nickelodeon and other networks compensate for this in real-time by dropping scheduled material specifically tagged for deletion should circumstances, such as run-time overages, require making up time.

³ Nickelodeon airs non-sponsored promotion for shows that appear on Nickelodeon, or for the network as a whole, during the one-minute dedicated to local availability, so that in the instance where the Operator does not use its local availability, the time does not become a full minute of dead air. Given the substance of this backstop, the one-minute of local availability does not constitute commercial matter if the Operator does not use it but instead defers to Nickelodeon to fill that time. Of course, Operators may opt to use the time for purposes of presenting materials that do not constitute commercial matter as well.

⁴ It should also be noted (though it is not exculpatory) that, because all the potential overages resulted from slippage of local availabilities, there was a corresponding reduction in commercial matter below the amount allowed by the rules in the hour in which the local availabilities were scheduled.

to or greater than the potential amount of excess commercial matter. The reductions of commercial matter will be carried out by this coming Monday, May 23, 2005.

Remedial Efforts

Nickelodeon immediately took steps to ensure that the problem described above, and the potential for exceeding the commercial matter limits, does not recur. Specifically, for the last break in the hour, the very last scheduled unit is no longer a local availability but non-commercial content. Consequently, even if there are unexpected over-runs in programs and/or dead air in a given clock hour that push the last minute of it partially into the next clock hour, the material that runs over will not be commercial matter.
